A young boy with a serious expression is sitting in a wooden boat on a body of water. He is holding a long wooden pole vertically. The boat is made of dark wood and has some blue markings on its side. The background shows a calm lake and a cloudy sky.

Today, violence is the most urgent threat for millions of the poorest people around the world.

More than 45 million children, women and men are held as slaves.

Nearly 2 million children are exploited in the commercial sex industry. For millions more, sexual violence is a part of childhood.

But with your help, we believe we can end slavery in our lifetime.

WE ARE INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE MISSION.

IJM is the world's largest international anti-slavery organization, working to fight modern day slavery, human trafficking and other forms of violence against the poor.

We have spent nearly 20 years on the frontlines fighting some of the worst forms of violence. Our global team includes hundreds of lawyers, investigators, social workers, community activists and other professionals working in communities in Africa, Latin America, South Asia and Southeast Asia.

Through our ground-breaking and unique Justice System Transformation model, we help victims of violence secure justice and partner with key authorities to fix broken justice systems in the countries where we work.
